علي حسين شاکر

PROFILE

I have extensive experience in the field of medical devices, supported by a solid academic background that includes a Master's degree in Biomedical Engineering. I believe that education is the primary driver of innovation and creativity, and I always strive to develop students' skills and enhance their thinking within an interactive and stimulating learning environment. I aspire to contribute effectively to the development of higher education by transferring accumulated knowledge and experience to new generations, thereby achieving their distinction and professional empowerment.
